Customer Journey Map

The customer journey is the series of interactions a customer has with a brand or product as they become aware of a pain point and make a purchase decision. While the buyer's journey refers to the general process of arriving at a purchase, the customer journey refers to a buyer's purchasing experience with a specific company or service.

Key Stages of a Customer Journey

1. Awareness

   Customer discovers your brand (ads, social media, word-of-mouth)

2. Consideration

   They research and compare options

3. Decision (Purchase)

   Customer chooses and buys your product/service

4. Retention

   Post-purchase experience (support, onboarding, follow-ups)

5. Advocacy

   Happy customers recommend your brand

Components of a Customer Journey Map

- Customer Persona
  Who is the customer? (age, goals, behavior, needs)
- Touchpoints
  All interactions (website, app, store, customer support)
- Customer Actions
  What the user is doing at each stage
- Emotions & Thoughts
  How they feel (confused, excited, frustrated)
- Pain Points
  Problems or obstacles they face
- Opportunities
  Improvements you can make
